What Is A Grant Proposal?

“A Grant Proposal is not a report – It is a blueprint; a proposition”

- A Grant is the funding that the applicant receives from the grant making agencies
- A Proposal is the written information you prepare to meet the requirements of the funding source
- A Grant Proposal is not a report – It is a blueprint, proposition. It is intended to assist both the grant making agencies and applicants for funding

The Use Of A Grant Proposal

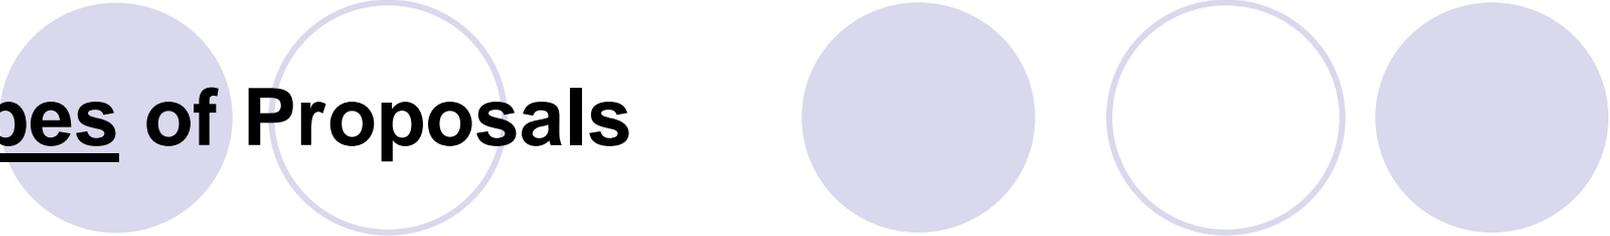

The most obvious use of a grant proposal is to secure outside funding.

- Represents and present your case
- What you want others to know about you, your program, style, knowledge, ideas, goals, and abilities
- Reflect your thoughts and plans to improve or increase service

It is an organizational planning instrument to help you identify deficiencies in your agency's planning beyond the funding awarded. It can also help:

- Improve record-keeping systems
- Enhance credibility
- Clarify your goals
- Develop tangible objective
- Increase knowledge in the program area
- Better program evaluation
- Better financial management

Types of Proposals

- Program Proposals
- Research Proposals
- Planning Proposals
- Training Proposals
- Technical Assistance Proposals

Functions Of A Grant Proposal?

- Program Representation
- Request
- Persuasion
- Promise
- Plan

Potential Funding Opportunities

The internet and local library are good sources to local potential funds. Availability of funding for special projects are announced by foundations, government agencies, corporations, and other special interest organizations:

- Funding Support
- Foundations
- Governmental Organizations
- Corporate Donors

Funding Support

- Project Grant: Supports a specific “project or program of an individual or organization
- Operation Grant: Furnishes operating expenses for a specific program or project
- Restricted Grant: Supports a particular portion of the project or program
- General-purpose Grants: Are broad-based and usually give support to the organization

- Start-up or Seed-Money: Provide underwriting for an organization to establish a new project or program
- Challenge Grant: Similar to a “matching grant.” Funds are supplied to an organization if the grant applicant is successful in securing funds to “match” the amount requested by the grant-maker
- In-kind Donation or Services: Refer to as a “non-cash grant.” It is given to an organization, and consist of material, equipment or services that may be useful to the project or program.

- Technical Assistance: Non-cash support. May be skill's development service, or some sort of service(s) given to the grant recipient
- Award and Prizes: Is a grant given on a competitive basis, usually rewarding accomplishment or achievements.

Additional Funding Opportunities

- Foundation Funding: A private foundation is a non-governmental, nonprofit institution created for the purpose of contributing to the common good
- Governmental Organization Funding: Federal, State, and sometimes local government agencies have funds designed to support programs and projects
- Corporate Donors Funding: Develop a trusting relationship with companies in order to provide access to future funding opportunities. Realize that corporation's funds projects and programs that meet their needs and interest, and benefit them.

Where Do You Begin?

Got A Project Idea?

- Develop a project description
- Start researching to see what grant program fits
- Plan ahead: further develop your ideas; strengthen your coalition; build partnerships; and gather matching funds
- Explore the possibility of pilot or demonstration programs
- Prior to pursuing funding, be realistic about your idea and the grantmaker's interest

Thinking About Applying?

- Obtain copies of past solicitations
- Does your proposed project fit into a similar solicitation?
- Determine if your project would be a duplication
- If unsure if the project fits the grantmaker's goals, contact them
- Refine your project to meet the grantmaker's requirements

The Fundamentals

- Explain the problem – Why is this a problem? Use data to support your claim
- Explain “why” – Why will the problem be solved by the solution you identified?
- Explain “what” – What will your project accomplish? What have you done so far, and how will your proposal improve it?
- Explain “how” – What will you do? What are the program activities, and who will lead and execute them?
- Explain “who” – Provided a description of the beneficiaries of your grant
- Answer every “shall” – When the grant maker lists “shall” do. You must address every item on the list.

- Move on; seek other prospects

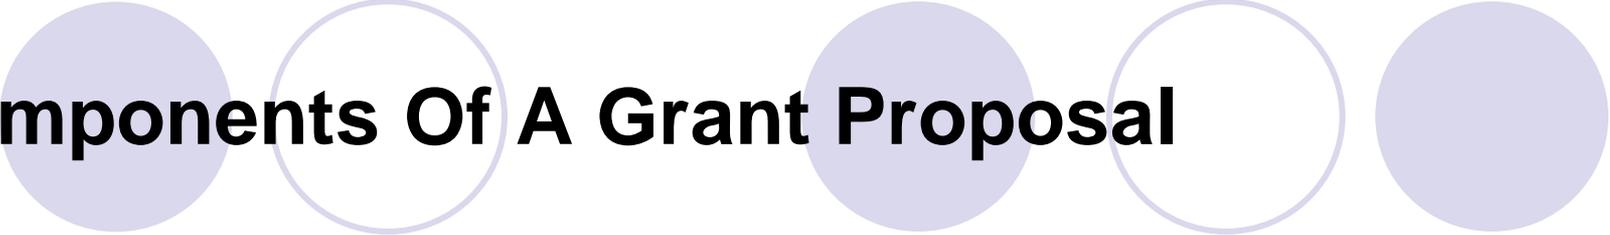

III. Components Of A Grant Proposal

- Cover Letter
- Summary or Abstract
- Introduction or Background Description
- Statement of Problem or Need
- Goals and Objectives
- Measurable Outcomes
- Method or Tasks
- Evaluation
- Budget
- Future Funding

Components Of A Grant Proposal

- The Cover Letter: The cover letter briefly describes the content of the grant proposal. It should contain vital information about the applicant, what the grant proposal is requesting, and the amount being requested.
- Summary or Abstract: The summary may be called by other names such as: Key words, Abstracts, Synopsis or an Overview. Most often limited to one page or less. It should clearly and concisely summarize the request, and briefly describe who you are, state what your project is, who will benefit and the anticipated cost. The key to writing a good summary is to write it last.

Components Of A Grant Proposal

- Introduction or Background: This is a time to establish credibility as an applicant. It describes your qualifications, why it was started, what its goals are, how long your organization has existed and a few accomplishments, your mission and philosophy.
- Statement of Problem or Need: This is the most critical part of your Grant Proposal. You have an opportunity to demonstrate your understanding of the problem to be addressed, and to document the need to be met or problem to be solved by the proposed funding.

The “problem statement” looks at a particular situation, relates it to similar situations that exist, and shows the broader implications of your program.

The “need or needs assessment” generally focuses on the conditions in the lives of your clients or constituents that you wish to change.

Components Of A Grant Proposal

- Goals and Objectives: “Goals” are the overall intent of what you will accomplish through the administration of your program. “Objectives” are what you will accomplish within a stated time period.
- Measurable Outcomes: Specific numbers that the funding agency can use to evaluate the success of the program. They may involve the number of participants, timelines, amount of money used to achieve a goal, etc.
- Methods or Tasks: Describes the activities or means of achieving your program goals or activities, strategies, or steps to be taken to achieve the desired results. The basic requirements of the methods are clarity and justification. Methods should be understandable, and be accompanied by an explanation of the rationale underlying your choice of them.

Components Of A Grant Proposal

- Evaluation: Refers to “measurable outcomes.” It presents a plan for determining the degree to which objectives are met and methods are followed.
- Budget: Requirements differ contingent upon funding source. Some budgets may require matching funds or in-kind contributions. The budget format normally has two basic components: (a) Personnel, and (b) Non-Personnel costs. There is an optional component called “Indirect Costs.” There is a “Budget Summary” which is written after the budget is complete and is presented at the beginning of the budget. There is also an “Itemized Budget” which itemizes individual expenditures
- Future Funding: Describes a plan for continuation beyond the grant period and/or the availability of other resources necessary to implement the grant.
